PROFILE

I am a recent graduate of Dev Bootcamp Chicago seeking a junior developer position where I can solve complex problems and continue to learn from those around me. I love being presented with new challenges, especially in code, and this passion for problem-solving has provided me with a high-capacity for thinking critically about possible solutions, and learning quickly enough to implement a chosen solution successfully.

EXPERIENCE

Student, Dev Bootcamp Chicago

Chicago, IL; June 2013 - September 2013

- Spent 80+ hours a week, for 9 weeks, working with Ruby, Javascript, HTML, CSS, and SQL, using frameworks such as Sinatra and Rails.
- Tested using RSpec, Capybara, and Jasmine.
- Maintained clean and organized version control and collaboration using Git and GitHub.
- Cultivated good code practices through code reviews and pair programming emphasizing DRY, easily readable, test-driven code.

Staffing Consultant, IT Project and Financial Controls, CME Group

Chicago, IL; November 2012 – March 2013

- Analyzed staffing forecasts and project demands to ensure development teams are appropriately staffed.
- Collaborated with project managers to maintain staffing plans and budgets for various development projects.

Corporate Procurement Analyst, KLA-Tencor

Milpitas, CA; April 2010 - July 2012

- Analyzed $400M annual indirect supply chain spend and multiple metrics to identify cost savings opportunities.
- Assessed proposed terms, negotiated purchases, structured deals, developed SOWs and SLAs, modeled spend forecasting, and drafted contracts to optimize value and mitigate risk for deals ranging from $10k to $2M
